Hoop Valley High School to Host Urban School of San Francisco

Game set for 1 PM Friday after winter weather wreaks havoc

Hoop, CA – After securing home court advantage in the NCS playoffs, a first in at least 6 years, the Hoop Valley Warriors are set to play Urban School of San Francisco on Friday, February 15. Due to ongoing winter weather conditions, tipoff is set for 1 PM in the Warrior Dome. Hoop postponed the game, which was originally set for Wednesday evening, because of hazardous conditions and power outages. A win tomorrow would mean the Warriors would face Head-Royce in Oakland on Saturday. However, in a statement Thursday, Superintendent Jon Ray said, “NCS has been in agreement that if we win on Friday, the game against Head-Royce should be postponed until Monday evening, when travel will be safer.” Ray went on to say, “The safety of these kids is our number one priority.” Friday is a minimum day for students and all staff will be released once all students have safely boarded buses and/or picked up by their guardian. Staff will be paid for a full day and should be relieved of duties so they may attend the game.
